

Media Training: Developing your message and then delivering it to the public

Glenn O'Neal | American Psychiatric Association

The bulk of the training session is on messaging, how to create a message prior to an interview and how to stay on that message during the interview. The session also provides a brief overview of the current media landscape and provides basic tips for interviews.